Annotation:

The English language course in the first semester is based on the general vocabulary and grammar skills the students have acquired during their secondary education. It aims at the further development of the students’ competence related to the accurate usage of syntactic and lexical structures. In the end of the course the students are supposed to recognize various grammatical structures and to be able to apply them accurately and fluently when creating oral and written texts.

Main issues of the syllabus content:

- Pronouns
- Quantifiers
- Present Tenses

Content presentation: Students are taught in a mixture of seminars and tutorials.
